

Do Good + Earn Money

with Pro Bono Indiana's Eviction Judicare Program

Judicare attorneys are private attorneys contracted to provide legal services and representation to low-income clients of a pro bono or legal aid program in exchange for payment at a reduced hourly rate.

What would a Judicare attorney do?

- Represent low-income Hoosiers at eviction possession and/or damages hearings;
- Help tenants identify and assert defenses or counterclaims;
- Negotiate with landlords to avoid or reduce the impact of an eviction; and/or
- Provide legal advice during in-person and remote eviction legal clinics.

What do Judicare attorneys receive?

- $100 per hour (up to $625 max per case)
- Expense reimbursement for mileage and related court costs
- FREE CLE, training, and support
- Malpractice insurance coverage for Judicare cases and clinic work
